Fall 2020 Bookstore Experience

Bookstore Services

The bookstore will be open for all student course materials needs for the upcoming fall semester. With the continued caution of COVID-19, there will be a limit on the amount of students that can be in the store at one time to ensure social distancing. Masks will be required and service areas will be cleaned after each transaction for everyone's health.

Because of the uniqueness of this semester, there will be multiple access points to better service the students.

- Front Entrance: This will be for all students that show up to campus to purchase their materials. Please have your course section numbers available to best serve you.
- Rear of the store: We will have separate access points for online order pickups and for voucher aid student pick up. Directional signage will help you find your destination.

With store limitations, students are encouraged to use the online store option if possible at <https://www.bkstr.com/fresnoccstore>. Many campus aid services have made their funds available online. If available, you will be receiving notification on this direction.

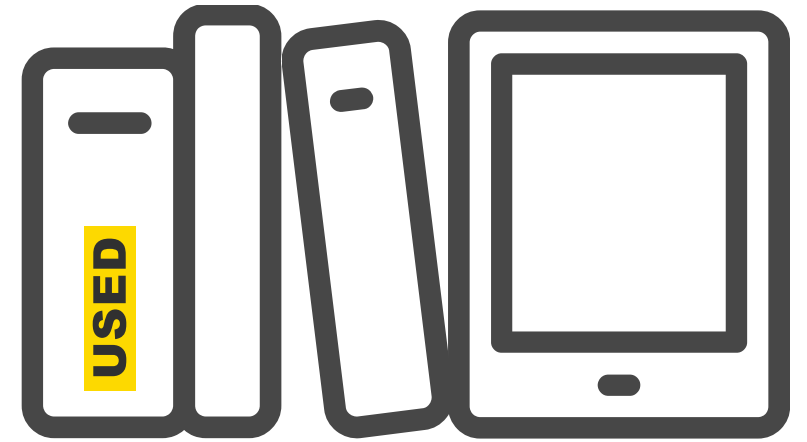

Please contact store at 2172mgr@follett.com or 559-443-8548 with questions.

RENT & SAVE

Rental books cost less than new books.
Use it. Highlight in it. Write in it. Return it.

What are the book rental rules?

- Create a book rental profile and provide some personal info. and a credit card as collateral – we will charge you for the book if you don't return it.
- You can highlight and take notes in rented books, but unreasonable wear or damage means you'll have to buy it at term end.

Keep your rental through exams

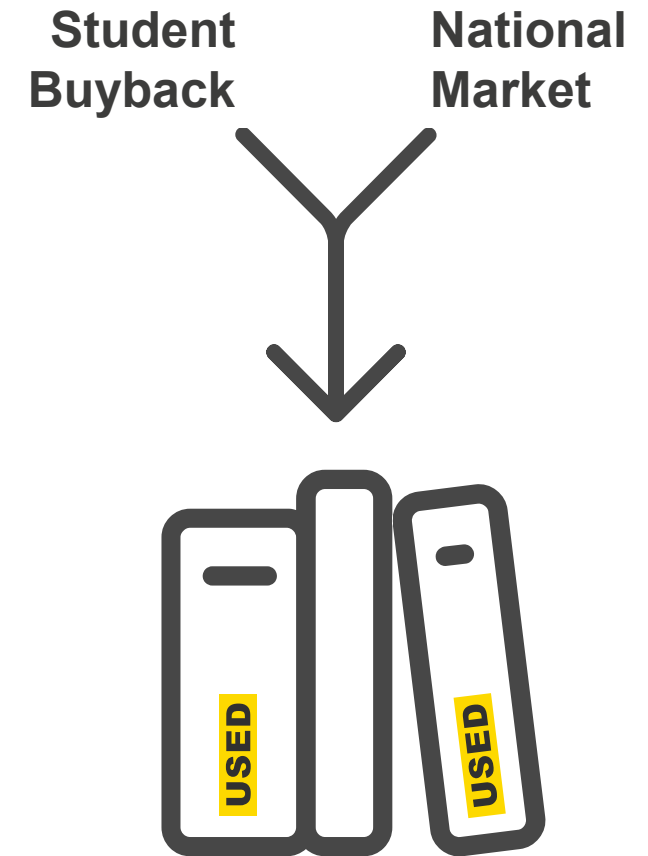

At term-end, return to the bookstore

USED

Same book, better price, previously owned and eco-friendly. Reduce, reuse and read used.

- Used is a great value.
- You own the used book. Take notes in it, highlight every word, take it in the bath with you. But keep it in good shape if you want to sell it back to us later.
- The store works hard to find as many used copies as possible from many sources including buying back from students at term end – look for the USED sticker.

WHERE DO USED BOOKS COME FROM?

DIGITAL

Access your textbooks anytime, anywhere, on any device. Convenient and often saves you money.

Should you buy the digital or physical book?

- The required and recommended materials for your course will specify if there is a digital version available.
- If there are both physical and digital versions available, it is your choice of which to use.

ADDITIONAL ACCESS CODES

Sometimes the physical book has more content available online.

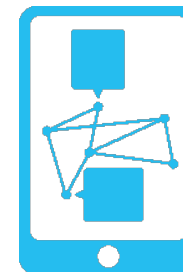

THREE MAIN TYPES OF DIGITAL BOOKS

The most basic digital book is just a PDF of the physical printed book. This is comparable to reading on an Amazon Kindle, there is little or no interactivity with the material.

Some digital books have enhanced, interactive sections to help you learn about specific topics.

Finally, more advanced digital books are more like a website of subject matter where a user chooses different paths.

HOW TO FIND YOUR TEXTBOOKS

DIRECT

[If your store has an LMS connection to purchase books, or participates in IncludED, talk about these programs first, edit as needed.]

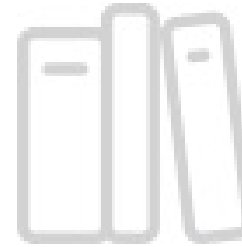

IN-STORE

Textbooks are available in-store in alpha order by course. Bring a copy of your registered courses and sections to the store. [edit if necessary for A-Z, Shop-by-Author in-store arrangement]

ONLINE

We suggest shopping for your books online as soon as you register for classes. Even if we have not yet received the book “adoption” from the instructor, you can sign up to receive a notification when the book becomes available.

On our website, [bookstorewebsite.com], choose books, and select each of your courses and sections to see your booklist.

STUDENT AID & THE BOOKSTORE

The bookstore works hand and hand with most student aid services at FCC allowing students to come in and shop with access to their funds at the point of purchase.

In addition, we were excited to partner with different aid groups on campus to access funds online. With the transition to distance learning, this has made it convenient to shop from home.

This list is growing weekly, so please partner with your aid provider if this is available to you.
